1963 FALL SCHEDULE OF ARTS AND CRAFTS COURSES ANNOUNCED

The Arts and Crafts Division, Recreation and Cultural Branch of the Department of the Provincial Secretary, is pleased to announce the schedule of courses being offered during the fall of 1963.

All courses scheduled are being offered in response to requests received from various craft centres and communities.

With the exception of the Basic Design course being held in Edmonton at the Winnifred Stewart School, a minimum representation of three communities will be expected at each course. The minimum registration is ten (10) people, the maximum registration is twelve (12), excepting photography which allows a greater number of students to attend. Failure to have a minimum representation and/or registration will result in a course cancellation.

The deadline set for each course is that date by which the completed application forms and fees must be received by the Arts and Crafts Division.

Application forms for each course are being sent to the person listed under "Contact". Anyone wishing to attend any of the stated courses could obtain application forms or information, by applying to the specified "Contact".

Changes may be made as to dates and timetables. In some cases the final arrangements and details have yet to be worked out. Any change or cancellation will be advertised and announced in advance whenever possible.

The following new courses have been added to the already extensive list of courses being offered:

Millinery II —includes the blocking of hats and the remodelling of old hats. This course could be termed "Advance" and Millinery I is a prerequisite.

Basic Construction—This course has been drawn up and made available because of the numerous requests for concentrated information on basic construction. Although part of this information is covered briefly during basic leather courses, the emphasis here is on tooling and carving, construction being left mainly for the student to accomplish on his own.

Advanced Leather—This course deals only with advanced construction of leather objects. Proportion, relationships, sewing, various methods of lacing and over all functional design are taken into consideration.

—The Ceramics II course deals only with form proportion. Basic ceramics is a prerequisite and it is assumed that students attending are familiar with basic ceramic procedures. New ideas and forms are introduced, but emphasis is placed on relationships and proportion of hand and throwing ceramic objects.

—The purpose of this course is to review information on glazes and firing. Glazing and firing problems are tackled; questions and new information are presented. Basic Ceramics is a prerequisite and students attending this course are expected to be familiar with basic ceramics procedure.

It is hoped that these new courses will help solve problems that have arisen since basic courses and that new possibilities will be realized in connection with each course.

CONCENTRATION OF COURSES IN PEACE RIVER DISTRICT WILL GUIDE FUTURE PLANS

The Arts and Crafts Division is attempting to hold courses and workshop visits in the Peace River area in the form of a concentrated program. A meeting was held at Fairview, Alberta, in the spring of 1963, with representatives from Grande Prairie, Beaverlodge, Hythe, Fairview, Grimshaw and Peace River in attendance, for the purpose of deciding what would be offered during such a program.

It was evident from this meeting that there was interest in courses of an advanced nature. In response to this interest and requests received the Arts and Crafts Division has drawn up and made available advanced courses in leather and ceramics to the Peace River area. These are new courses and they will be offered to the rest of the province in future.

From the fall program of courses being offered this year in Alberta by the Arts and Crafts Division, which is listed in this issue of Recreation News, one can see that basic courses, advanced courses and workshop visits have been scheduled in rapid succession between October 24 and November 6, 1963, in the Peace River area. By concentrating the program in this way, the Arts and Crafts Division is able to offer much more assistance and instruction at the same expense as that of a lesser amount formerly. It is hoped that this type of program will also build enthusiasm in the arts and crafts field.

At times representatives attending courses will be able to receive the benefit of two instructors; for example, design instruction can be worked into advanced courses. This eliminates separate visits by two different instructors, who, in the past, have had difficulty in relating craft fields.

Students from various communities will be able to exchange ideas among themselves and organizers of courses will have a better idea of what will be happening in the entire Peace River Area and therefore work for better or more comprehensive programs.

Should this experiment be successful, the Peace River area can plan arts and crafts exhibitions to coincide with future programs. Movies and slide lectures can be introduced and the result could be a new awakening in the arts and crafts field in this area of the province.

Upon the basis of this experiment in the Peace River area, similar concentrated programs will be introduced to other areas of the province, with the aim of passing on more and better information and assistance.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION INTRODUCES COURSES FOR SMALL BUSINESS TRAINING

The Department of Education of Alberta will launch a Small Business Management Training Program throughout the province of Alberta, commencing this fall. Short training courses for owner-managers of small businesses will be conducted in local communities by local part-time instructors who know the course subjects and have received some training in the appropriate methods of teaching. The Program is offered as an educational service to assist the owners of small businesses to help themselves.

Instructors will be obtained, wherever possible, from the ranks of local business and professional men. These instructors will be paid, and will be provided with instructor's notes and a prepared course. Subjects will include Management Accounting, Bookkeeping, Retailing, Marketing for Manufacturers, Marketing for Service Businesses, Small Plant Management, Purchasing and Staffing. Fees, times and dates of courses will be arranged for the convenience of instructor and those taking the courses.

The program will be a continuous one, eventually operating throughout all of Alberta, and is designed to provide the businessmen and businesswomen with information that will be of practical use in their businesses, and make them more able to face the stiff competition of the future.

NEW TABER LIBRARY OPENED

Dr. N. Stuart Boyle, Mayor of Taber, officiated at the opening of the new Taber Public Library on June 28, 1963. The library, which contains 3,500 square feet of space, has a book capacity of 10,000 volumes, and was built at a cost of $60,000, the bulk of which was provided by the Town of Taber, aided by the Winter Works program and public subscription. Donations have also been received for furniture, equipment and books, and it is planned to increase the number of volumes considerably during the next year. However, already an increased interest in reading has become apparent since the opening of the new library, with the circulation for the two months of July and August more than that for the whole year previous.
